NABET-CWA/NBC NASCAR NEGOTIATIONS BULLETIN #7

Dear Sisters and Brothers,

At the most recent round of formal bargaining last week, your NABET-CWA/NASCAR Bargaining Committee requested information from the Company related to any production changes that may impact NASCAR crew scheduling. Specifically, the Union questioned the Company as to any plans to condense the workweek. In response, the Company informed the Committee that it had no imminent plans to change the schedule moving forward into the 2020 race season.

Today, the Company informed the Union that it planned to alter the production schedule for the 2020 season. According to the Company, the changes will most likely result in a reduced workweek for some employees. The Union has requested additional detailed information related to any production changes and the impact those changes will have on our membership.

The limited information provided by the Company today is concerning and will drastically impact the bargaining process. The Committee is evaluating its next steps. Any changes that negatively affect our membership will need to be addressed immediately.

The Union strongly encourages all NASCAR members to inform the Union of offer letters received for the 2020 race season. Additionally, the Committee encourages members to confirm their terms and conditions of employment (wage rates, work schedule, etc.) in writing prior to accepting any work offers from NBCSN for NASCAR.

We will continue to update the membership of developments as we receive information from the Company related to production scheduling changes.

In Solidarity,

Your NABET-CWA Bargaining Committee
