TO: All NABET-CWA Local 11 Members

NABET-CWA Local 11 is pleased to announce that the NABET-CWA Sector's office has funded lynda.com on-line training for another year beginning August 1, 2009. This on-line training program, among many other possibilities, allows you to learn and practice editing with Avid and FinalCut Pro. It is free for all members in good standing. The advantage of course is the convenience and the fact that you can also do this on your own time at home. If you are interested, you will need to contact Joe Salvaggio at the Local 11 office directly in order to get a log-in and password for training. The number of users from Local 11 is limited so logins and passwords will be given on a first-come-first-served basis. NABET offers this program to its members on condition that it be used for serious training. In other words, don't ask for it unless you intend to actually use it. The Sector and the Local 11 Training Committee will be monitoring how much the licenses are being used and, if they see that someone who has requested a login is not using it, the login will be taken away and given to another member who has requested it. Also if the Sector sees that our licenses are not being used they will be given to other locals.

So please act soon!

Check out the site at www.lynda.com/promo/nabet to see if you're interested in any of the offerings they have. Then contact Joe Salvaggio by e-mail at jsalvaggio@nabetlocal11.org with your requests. Please include your contact information, courses and the dates you want to take them. This will help in planning. The date of the email gets you a position on the training list.
